Yuchao was a great instructor for the STAT101 course. He really takes the time out to be very accessible, being flexible with his office hours for student questions as well as offering to have one-on-one appointments if needed. Though the course was fast-paced and I imagine it can be quite challenging to fit the amount of material into just five weeks, he conveyed the material in a way that was understandable and was always there to answer each of the students' questions. He was always there to support his students, especially if they are having difficulties in the class and incredibly understanding and fair.

This course has been great. Yuchao was a wonderful instructor, as he managed to keep the material simple and straightforward. He also made the class enjoyable, which is important. I think I learned a lot from this class.

Good instructor and valuable course for a summer.

would've preferred that office hours weren't changed to a time i couldn't make (haha i know it's obvious who i am now), or at least a time i could partially attend, but thank you for being willing to arrange other times to meet for when i did have questions. thanks for a good class, I learned a lot even though i may not have had as much time to spend on homework/extra problems as I wanted due to other personal issues, will definitely look into more stat in the future!

Very good. Stimulated interest. Although the material was difficult, the instructor was very available and took a lot of effort to make it as comprehensible as possible.

This was a very thorough introduction to statistics, which will be extremely valuable for my studies and beyond. Yuchao did a great job teaching it and being available outside of class hours to answer questions.
